CLASS PROPHECY

As we entered the Hauser High School gymnasium in 1969 for the annual Alumni Banquet, we received our programs from Barbara Turner and Beverly Imel. Barbara told us that she was the typing teacher at Hauser and Beverly, the agriculture teacher. We then asked them if they were teaching any of Eugene Anderson's children. Barbara said that Debbie was in her class. From Debbie she had learned that Eugene was at the head of the research division working with escape-proof play-pens for Todd's Tot 'n Toy Company.

Suddenly we felt a shove from the line formed behind us and we noticed Bill Moore and Kenny Oliplant, who owned a company making Sniffy perfume, "the type dogs go for," shouting at us for holding up the line. With this encouragement we entered the gymnasium and found seats near Julia Klipsch, Wilma Essex, Mary Kay Ritchison, Bonnie Thayer, and Linda Shepherd. Julia said that she was the widow of the late Tony Banks, who was killed along with Raymond Brown while drag racing. They ran into the tree in front of the ranch house on the farm jointly owned by Charles Herndon and Earl Mayes. Julia said that Linda Rednour was her beautician, who specialized in pedicures.

Wilma said that she was a gossip columnist and had recently written about a Hollywood scandal involving Dennis Gommel, his wife, the former Alma Read, and Darryl Imlay. Her chief informers were Lucille Caldwell, Ruth Mitchell, and Carolyn Law.

Mary Kay Ritchison said that she was a clerk in a large super market in St. Louis Crossing managed by Charles Compton and Don Richards. Some of the housewives that she sees frequently are Jean Berkenstock, Anna Mings, Rose Kent, Sharon McCarty, and Martha Norman.

Bonnie Thayer said that she was a missionary and that she had returned recently from Borneo. She had met Mark Hayes and the former Kathleen Finneran on the ship. They had made a fabulous fortune selling plaid toothpaste. She also informed us that her ship had been captained by a very charming gentleman, Larry Paetzel. Upon her return from Borneo, she was asked to speak at a banquet at Los Angeles where she received the key to the city from Mayor Stephen Stafford.

Linda Shepherd informed us that she and Sharon Marshall were the head janitors in the court house. They had recently hired Cecil Cox and Kenny Titus to clean the furnace pipes. The day before, the sheriff, Ernest Mote, had arrested Arnold Andrews for painting a yellow line down the middle of the gravel road where the County Commissioner, Ken McClure, lived.

The Alumni president, Dennis Keller, who directs traffic in Hope, rose to conduct the business meeting. In the election of officers, Joe Everroad was elected vice-president and Ruth Drake was elected secretary. We found that Joe is a bartender and Ruth is still happily married. Sally McCullough was then appointed chairman of the decorating committee for next year because she was an interior decorator.

Larry Burnes, Master of Ceremonies, who owns a chain of hardware stores, led some games, then recognized some alumni who hadn't returned since graduation. Among these was Barbara Beeker, who was a famous model in New York City. Another was Paul Hill, who had built a rocket which Jim Ropp was testing. He hasn't returned as of yet. Linda Padgett was also recognized. She was a police woman in the San Francisco Police Department.

After the initiation we were informed that David Hill regularly cleans the gears of "Big Ben" in London. We also learned that Loretta Warriner was guiding safaris in darkest Africa. We were told that Dean Beeker was the "pizza king" of Rome. We learned that Linda Roberts was the princess of Nicaragua and Donald Saylor and Gene Richards were dope peddlers in Hong Kong. At the climax of the evening, a professional band, now appearing at the Wooden Club, performed, consisting of Larry Cox, Sue Crowhorn, Evelyn Gabriel, Marjorie Harms, and Jane Robertson. As we departed we held pleasant memories of the class of 1959.

CLASS WILL

We, Seniors, members of the graduating class, in the High School of Hauser, being of sound and disposing minds and memories, most of the time, do make, publish and declare this to be our Last Will and Testament, to the underclassmen, teachers and various institutes, hereby revoking all former Wills by us made.

I, Gene Anderson, will my reserved manner to Peggy Elrod.

I, Arnold Andrews, will my guitar to Dick Andrews.

I, Tony Banks, refuse to will anything to anybody, since in all probability, I will be back next year.

I, Barbara Beeker, will my crazy sneeze to Betty Hedrick and my silly laugh to Helen Spicer.

I, Dean Beeker, will my regular school attendance to Buckshot and Joe Robertson.

I, Jeanne Berkenstock, will my poke-a-dot bikini to Genie Moreland and my cheerleading sweater to Sandy DeBusk.

I, Raymond Brown, will my scholastic ability to the junior class and my talent for finding the way to the office to any lost soul who is not escorted by a teacher.

I, Larry Burnes, will my I. O. U. 's to the Athletic Fund.

I, Lucille Caldwell, will my even temper to Betty Turner.

I, Charles Compton, will my Casanova technique to Johnny Newton and my perfect church attendance to Dick Ray.

I, Cecil Cox, will my brother to Mary Newby.

I, Larry Cox, will my ability to hit cows to Raymond Embry, because he has hit almost everything else.

I, Sue Crowhorn, will my Luckies to Tommy Neville.

I, Ruth Drake, will my little ducklings to Faith Burton.

I, Wilma Essex, will my expert skill for turning over out-houses to the 1959 Halloweeners.

I, Joe Everroad, will my hair cut to Elvis Presley; he will need it when he is discharged.

I, Kathleen Finneran, will my teddy bear, Bobo Braniganski, to anyone who has trouble sleeping, and my ability to look interested in bookkeeping class to anyone who, like me, has trouble staying awake.

I, Evelyn Gabriele, will my typing skill to David Hayes and my ability to get along with Paul Hill to Fayanne Hill.

I, Dennis Gommel, will my English book to Bill Johnson, since I ain't got no more need of it.

I, Marjorie Harms, will my secret for staying off the honor roll to Mary Clark.

I, Mark Hayes, will my '49 Ford to the drivers' education class.

I, Charles Herndon, will my talent for dodging telephone poles to Steve Barrett and my way with girls to Merrill Emerick.

I, David Hill, will my censored jokes to Byron Franklin.

I, Paul Hill, will my NHS pin to Raymond Embry.

I, Beverly Imel, will to Edward Johnson the ability to have not more than one total wreck a year and to Karen Heilman my "Senior Sophistication. "

I, Darryl Imlay, will my driver's license to Joe Harris, and my conceit to Jimmy Meiers.

I, Dennis Keller, will my hunting dogs to Clyde Bickley.

I, Rose Kent, will my World Economic Geography book to the Boswell Institute for Economic Geography Lovers.

I, Julia Klipsch, will my graceful movements to John Mitchell.

I, Carolyn Law, will my red hair to Franklin McClintic.

I, Sharon McCarty, will my shrewdness in getting a diamond ring to Iris Beckett.

I, Ken McClure, will my bad habits to the entire junior class, because I have enough for all of them.

I, Sally McCullough, will all my paper dolls to Dale Moore.

I, Sharon Marshall, will all my money toward the building of a new Hauser High.

I, Earl Mayes, will my beautiful figure to Donnie Buchanan.

I, Anna Mings, will my curly hair to Merrill Hitchcock.

I, Ruth Ann Mitchell, will my seat in the study hall to Charles Mitchell, if it will help improve his relationship with the teachers.

Bill Moore has failed to meet with his lawyers to draw up his will. If he does so before graduation, it will be published.

I, Ernest Mote, will my front fenders to Larry Smith and my trunk lid to Larry Pogue.

I, Martha Norman, will my shorthand book to the custodian to do with as he sees fit.

I, Kenny Oliphant, will my red sweater to Dianne VanArsdale and my position as student manager to Joyce Titus.

I, Linda Padgett, will my Hoosier accent to Mrs. Fugitt and my flirtatious way to Linda Herron.

I, Larry Paetzel, will my singing ability to Mr. Fugitt. I wanted to give him something nice because he let me sleep in his class.

I, Alma Read, will the middle section of the front seat in Dennis Gommel's little black Chevy to Elizabeth Stafford.

I, Linda Rednour, will my used adhesive tape from class rings to the American Red Cross.

I, Don Richards, will my seat in the senior section of the study hall to Morris Nading, and my height to Mike Duling.

I, Gene Richards, will my telephone number to Bob Moore.

I, Mary Kay Ritchison, will my slightly worn hula hoop to the basketball team.

I, Linda Roberts, will my forwardness to Dora Gommel and my ability to transcribe shorthand to Linda Herron.

I, Jane Robertson, will my safe driving ability to Mr. Blevins and my height to Johnny Newton.

I, Jim Ropp, will my height to Gary Robertson, my weight to Jim Andrews and my 75¢ haircuts to anybody who can afford them.

I, Donnie Saylor, will my talent for sleeping in study hall without getting caught to Patricia Seifert and my little green Plymouth to anyone who'd have it.

I, Linda Shepherd, will my habit of staying awake in history class to Martha McIntyre.

I, Steve Stafford, will a foot in the mouth to Dave Cobble.

I, Bonnie Thayer, will my sympathy to all those who have to return to school next year.

I, Kenny Titus, will to Ray Sweet my ability to play golf. Don't give up, Ray, you'll break 50 at Shelbyville one of these days.

I, Barbara Turner, will my hope to the junior class for a larger income than ours.

I, Loretta Warriner, will my height to Dave Andrews.

I, Charles West, will my library books to Tom Kelsy.

The foregoing document is signed, sealed and acknowledged by sponsors for the Senior Class, this the fifth day of January, 1959.

WHAT IS A SENIOR?

A senior is a wise, dignified influential student who spends two semesters trying to convince his underclassmen that he is wise, dignified and influential.

Seniors are found driving second-hand cars, cutting classes, wearing senior cords, crashing parties, selling magazines and paying friendly visits to the principal. A senior is intelligence with a play book in his hand, joy with a frown on his face and the hope of the future with love in his heart.

Seniors come in a variety of sizes, colors and ages; but each has a fundamental desire: to graduate into a world where he will be happy and unafraid.

Seniors go for teachers who give A's, Saturday nights, prestige, Maverick, underclassmen of the opposite sex and job opportunities. They're not sold on teachers who give 3's, the end of a line, underclassmen in general, civics class, advice or staying at home.

Nobody else is so late to get up and so late to get in. Nobody else more often says, "I can't," but does. Nobody else can keep another's class ring as long and give it back as gracefully as a senior.

A combination of the bumps and bruises; joy and laughter of his own life and the lives of others, standing at the gate of adulthood: this is a senior.

DESIGN FOR BETTER LIVING

The three people in this picture--Linda Padgett and Mark Hayes of Hauser High School and John Brighton of Arvin's Research and Advanced Engineering Department--are doing design work.

The engineer is designing new products and new processes that will make for better living. The students are learning in school the design or plan for good and useful lives after their graduation from Hauser High School.

Arvin is proud of its fine relationship with this school and the people of the surrounding community.

Best of luck to all Seniors!
